

NEWSLETTER ~ November 2018

First Friday October Report

Pacia Dixon presented a wonderful show.

Pacia Dixon*:	$1,050
Other artworks:	$561
Wine (donated):	$91.25
Total Sales:	$1,702.25

(*Another of Pacia's works sold on Saturday for $250)

Thank you to the Wenatchee World 'GO' magazine for a nice interview of Pacia and great pictures of her show.

Sidewalk Sale Helps

The Sidewalk Sale on September 22 brought in $530 to the gallery. We send a large "Thanks!" to Russ, Ronnie, Jean & Randy Knox for making this a beneficial project for 2 Rivers.

Coming Shows of Members

- ♦ Jan Theriault is the Featured artist at Confluence Health Radiology (Wenatchee Watercolor Society).
- ♦ Robert Wilson's show "Thinking Through Paint" begins November 2 at the Graves Gallery.
- ♦ Dean Rainey has set up a Christmas Art Gallery of his western art at a store front on Wenatchee Avenue next to the Firehouse Pet Store. It will be open November & December. Dean will also be our featured artist in January.
- ♦ Ginger Reddington has a show at Cafe Mela.

Two Rivers Presents: "Adventuring into the Unknown"

Featuring Terri Meenach
First Friday, November 2, 2019

First Friday features paintings by Terri Meenach. Her show is called "Adventuring into the Unknown." Terri loves to experiment with different techniques as well as a variety of tools and mediums. Music will be provided by Connie Celustka, and wines are featured by White Heron Cellars. December's artist will be Brad Brisbane.

FIRST FRIDAY AT Two Rivers ART GALLERY

Adventuring into the Unknown

Featuring Artist Terri Meenach

I have two things that I love to do. One is cooking and the other is painting. With cooking I love to try different recipes and to use different ingredients, techniques and even different types of appliances.

With art I love to also try different techniques as well as different tools and mediums. A few years ago I discovered Yupo paper. This has become one of my favorite surfaces to paint on. It is like painting on ice. You experience such freedom and you are never sure where you are going or where you will end up.

I have also discovered alcohol inks which are so brilliant and vibrant and give you the most amazing results. Yupo paper paired with alcohol inks are a match made in heaven.

For me, I feel my adventure is just beginning.

Terri

November 2, 5pm-8pm

Music by Connie Celustka on hammered dulcimer
Wines by White Heron Cellars
Complimentary refreshments

102 N. Columbia - Wenatchee (bottom of 1st Street)
2riversgallery.com • 509-888-9504

Membership Matters

- ◆ Thank you to Richard Gerspatch for measuring our signs with his 20 foot ladder.
- ◆ Terry Johnson has finished our new building signs and hopes to get someone to volunteer to get them.
- ◆ Garden Terrace “Holiday Art Show” is November 17. Call Richard Gerspatch at 669-4323 if interested.
- ◆ Don Reddington, Ginger’s husband, passed away from Alzheimers. Our condolences to Ginger & family.
- ◆ Russ Hepler was a guest on KPQ’s “The Agenda” representing the Graves Gallery.
- ◆ The Exchange Building now has a recycle bin next to the garbage bin. Please use it when dumping the waste can. Also, do not park under the ‘Walk Bridge’ except loading & unloading.
- ◆ Jen Evenhus taught a workshop in North Carolina just as a hurricane dumped rain near its finish.
- ◆ Dan McConnell continues to have political cartoons printed on the editorial page of the Wenatchee World.
- ◆ We have only 20 books left of Jon Browder’s, Little Mary Elizabeth Just Turned Three. What a great gift the book would make!
- ◆ Make sure to check your art label for errors when you trade-out your works!

Treasurer’s Report

Terri Meenach reported at the last Board meeting that the gallery from January through August, 2018, had an income of just under $50,000 and that the gallery paid out to artists $20,000.

