Gallery Treasurer Terri Timpe welcomes you to our new look and Grand Re-Opening of the gallery.

The gallery renovation became possible from the many donations and Grants received. We thank the generous contributors of our community and all who make our gallery Wenatchee's Artist-Run non-profit art gallery.

Preparing for our show is Marie Alice Hurst, one of many who sets the show for our exhibits.

Sasha Fair helped to set the featured artist presentation.

Sonny greeted the many art lovers over the evening.

Adelle Johnson gives a big hug to Pacia Dixon who took a recess from her active artistic endeavors to help her husband's furniture and cabinet artistry.

Artist Barry Benbow sold one of his elephant paintings this evening. Both Barry and Carl Ericson, our newest members, have made several sales.

Congrats to Carl for his 2nd sale of the evening!

Returning for our Re-Opening is Connie Celustka. Connie plays the hammered dulcimer and was our first musician to play at Two Rivers Gallery First Friday openings 14 years ago. Connie is now retired from teaching at the college and now teaches private music lessons on harp, dulcimer and other stringed instruments.

Sold! "Muley Portrait," Oil on panel by Jen Evenhus. Jen recently sold 7 of her paintings during her Exhibit at Art Ally in Pybus Public Market.

Jen also provided six bottles of wine for the evening. The labels on these Goose Ridge Wine Club Wines were designed from Jennifer's original pastel paintings. Thank you, Jen for your artistry and generosity.

Marilyn Fisher has joined the gallery and is seated next to one of three of her floral arrangements on exhibit this month, "Aqua Fantasies."

Welcome to membership, Margarita Mendoza. This is one of three paintings that tells a story. She is very pleased to share her work with the community. (SOLD)

Sasha is a professional artist trained in Russia and received first place in last summer's Gallery Plein Air Paint Out. She will be part of a trio of artists featured in our April show.

Jeff Justice, noted colored pencil artist, added two new paintings.

Jeff painted his daughter's ski goggles and added "Treeline at Mission Ridge."

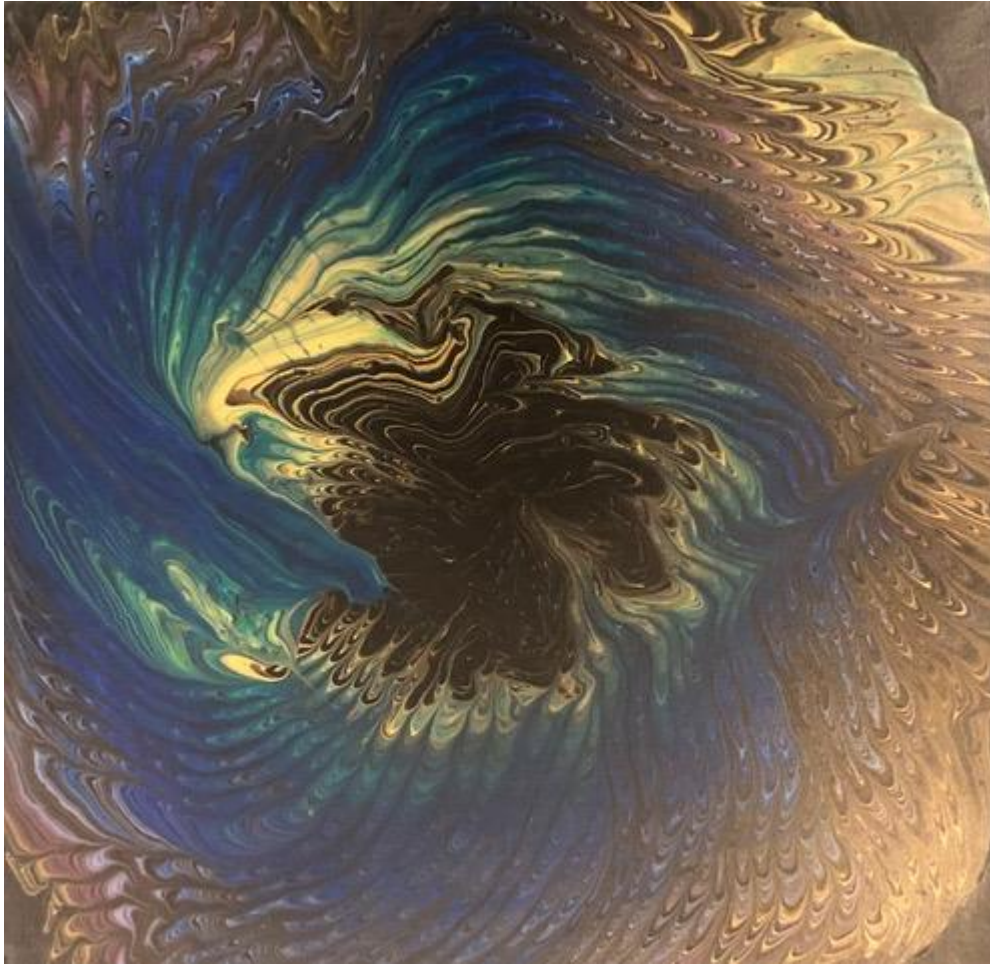

Gallery Visitors enjoyed conversing with “ART” in the newly painted West Wing.
