FEATURING the Colorful “Fluid” Works of Allen Gossett

Here is some of what happened at Two Rivers from 5pm - 8pm on Friday

Welcome to our newly renovated art gallery. This month we celebrate our 14th Anniversary being Wenatchee’s Artist-run, non-profit art gallery.

Music by Wenatchee duo Glenn Isaacson on piano and Patric Thompson on bass. So cool!

Editor Jessica Drake came to check out the new show. She interviewed Allen Gossett where his background and art statement can be read in this week's Go Magazine, Wenatchee World.

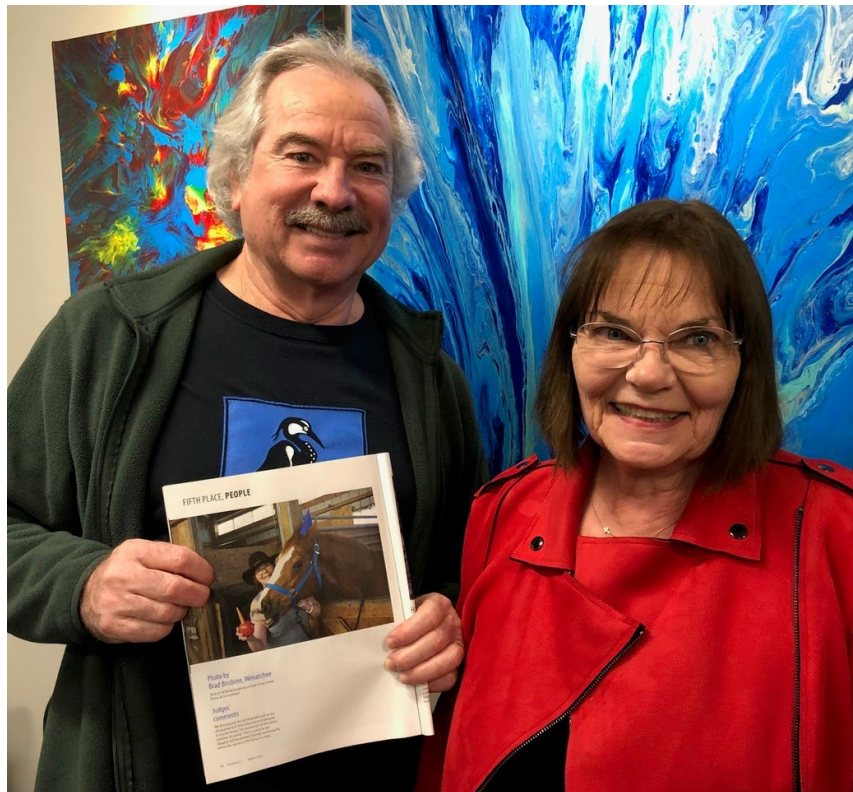

Thank you to Northwest Public Broadcasting for providing the wines by Maryhill & Gilbert Cellars.

Several visitors brought their children for an art experience.
This is Bo who seems to enjoy all of the colors.

First Friday is a good place to meet your friends.

SOLD! "Payne's Gray Winter," a watercolor by Carl Ericson

Annie stands below her favorite painting, "Jewel," by Kenny Ratliff. Annie is a grandchild of Nicki Isaacson.

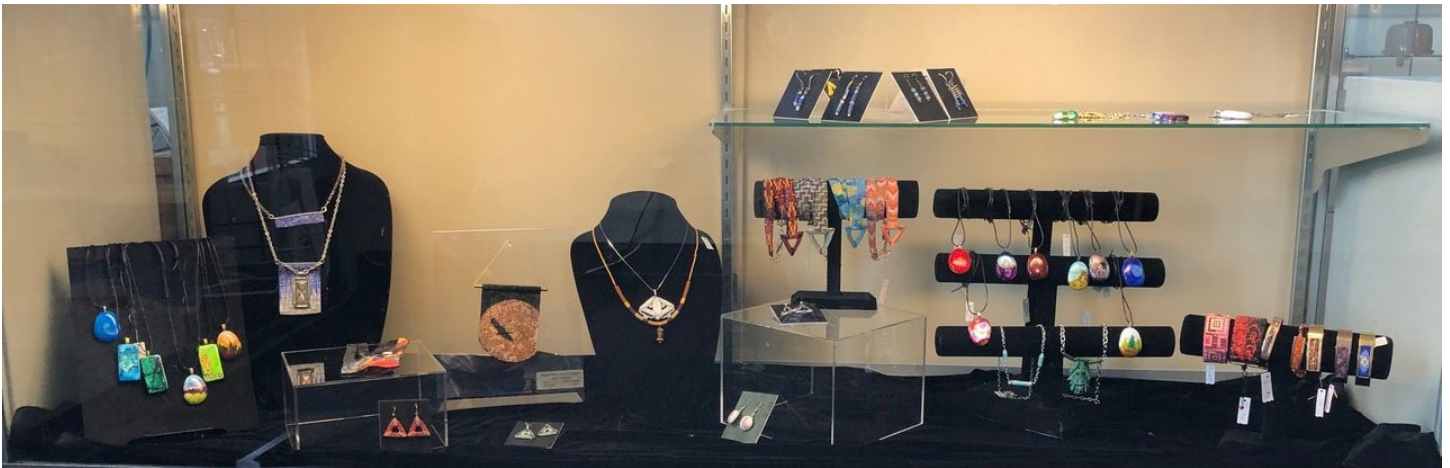

Vivian Sarles and her husband took home a painting by Barry Benbow. Benbow's paintings of elephants are very popular and do not stay on exhibit long at Two Rivers Gallery.

SOLD! "Winter Wonder"
by Ted DeMarce. His paintings are also popular. Image not available

"Place of Birth" by Lisa King is waiting for a good home. It is on exhibit in the West Wing.

Judy Oswood made a sale this evening. She has a colorful selection of jewelry that includes micro beading.

Docent, Carole Hiatt, reported that other sales this evening include prints by Jeff Justice and Barbara Connor Reed and some greeting cards. Adelle Johnson reported that she, Terri Timpe and Terry Johnson poured 21 glasses of wine. The gallery is a good place to try local wines. As is said, "Good art and good wine make good company."

Allen Gossett

First Friday - March 3rd 5-8pm

Music by Patric Thompson on base & Glenn Isaacson on Piano, Local Wines

I started my painting with a fascination with chain art, from there to all the different forms of fluid art.

My goal in each painting is for them to scream look at me I will not be ignored, this is what I require of my paintings.

My work has been shown on facebook but has been seen all over the world through this media. I love creating something new and different.
