

FIRST FRIDAY at TWO RIVERS GALLERY
September 7, 2018

The gallery opened with a new show for September/October of 50 local and regional artists. Featured artist Martha Flores was our host for the evening.

Martha invites you to her show. Congrats to Martha. "Poppies in the Wind" sold within the first hour.

Poets showed up to write a poem about one of her paintings. Poet Susan Blair challenges area poets and will have a reading at the gallery on September 21 at 6pm. See details on our website 2riversgallery.com.

Martha greeted the many friends of the gallery and the arts.

One of our beloved duos, Glenn Isaacson & Patric Thompson, helped create the mood.

Best hors d'oeuvres in town can be found each First Friday event at Two Rivers Gallery.

Our rooms were filled to capacity much of the evening.

Thanks to Jamie Huber of Northwest Public Broadcasting for providing the beer by Iron Horse Brewery of Ellensburg. Local wines were also served.

Congrats to those who won admissions to Ohme Gardens.

Above is Martha's first of three sales of the evening. Almost $2000 in art sales kept docent Carole Hiatt busy. Prints, cards, paintings, photography, jewelry, and mixed media were chosen.

Martha's exhibit of paintings and sculptures will be on view through September 29.

THE GALLERY'S NEXT EVENTS WILL BE:

- * Friday, September 21 at 6pm..... Readings by poets of Martha's paintings
- *Saturday, September 22 11am-4pm....
Gallery Sidewalk Sale of art, art supplies and books
