FEATURING DAN CRANDALL

Here is some of what happened at Two Rivers from 5pm - 8pm on Friday.

Welcome to the September exhibit of a new show featuring Dan Crandall, watercolorist.

Some of Crandall's presentation included movie stars and well-known people.

Dan Crandall's first sale was "Father of Our Country"

Dan greeted people as they came. Teresa and Lonnie Good were pleased to meet Dan.

Teresa showed us some of her ceramics and her work will be on view Wednesday as she is now a new member.

Our music this evening was presented by pianist Cindy Franza. Very relaxing in setting the mood.

Showing for the first time is a glass etching by Jill Timm.

Michael Galvin is showing for the first time at Two Rivers Gallery.
He works in wood and acrylics and resides in Seattle.

Wine tonight was offered by these fine wineries.

Two ladies admiring one of Warren Bissonnette's blue cats.

Take this Crandall watercolor "Flowers in a Crystal Base" home and you won't need to get fresh flowers.

Lynette Smith joined the gallery this evening and will be showing her cowboy scenes she photographed in Oregon. Lynette is a professional photographer and has her own business on Wenatchee Avenue. She is standing next to a photo on metal that is being presented by photographer Glenn King called "Guarding Fern Canyon".

Kenny Ratliff is showing his oil "Billy Bee" at the gallery.
This is his first show at Two Rivers Gallery.

Adelle Johnson always presents fresh flowers when serving wine at First Fridays. Free chances on entry passes were offered.

Artist Marti Lyttle just finished this 3 dimensional like acrylic painting.
She will be our featured artist next May.

The gallery is thankful that we receive donations of art books to resell at prices that usually are below Amazon's prices. We just added many beautiful books from Phyllis Emmert. Shop at the gallery for books you can learn from.

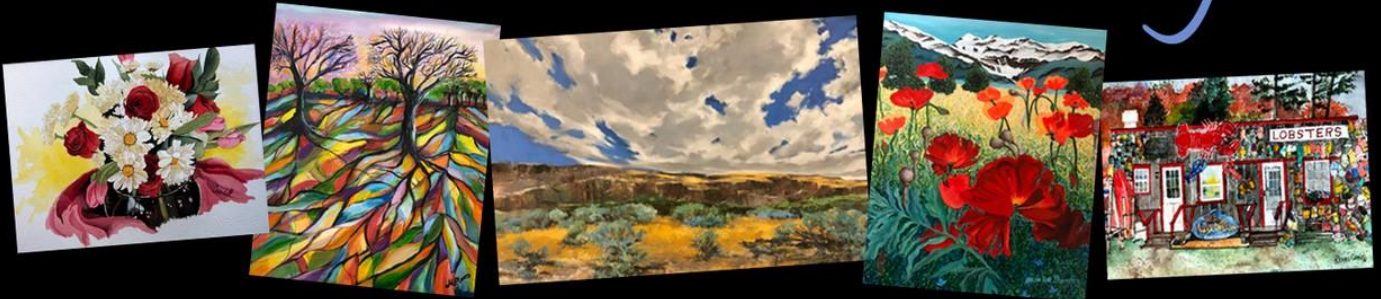

Linda Fee just keeps on with her charming animal watercolors. These may be the goats she raises. We don't often see her talent as she gives some of them away.

We have many fine pieces of art to grace any home. Dan Crandall's show ends on September 30. He asked us to remind you of Stan Millers class held in Chelan on the 10th & 11th of September. It will be cancelled unless enough artists sign up soon. You can reach Dan Crandall at artinchelan@gmail.com.
